

Consent for participation in student Education

The midwives of Bay Area Midwifery Center are committed to the practice of midwifery and the education of future midwives. In an effort to promote knowledge and acceptance of birth center care among health care professionals, BAMC encourages the involvement of student in our program. These students are nurse-midwifery students and are Registered nurses that are furthering their education, and working to become a Certified Nurse Midwife. Their roles range from observation to full participation in all aspects of client care under the direct supervision of Certified Nurse Midwife. Students are closely supervised by a CNM at all times.

No student may be involved in your care without your express permission. Student involvement will be discussed with you, and permission obtained by the CNM. If at any point you wish to change your decision regarding student involvement, you may do so by notifying the CNM of your wishes.

If you wish to limit student participation in your care, or to refuse any student involvement, you should feel free to do so. We hope, however, that you will consider helping us educate students about the unique care provided in a setting such as ours.
